Newcomer Resources

Per the commands of Their Highnesses, here is something to help newcomers.. This information is not just directed at brand new walk off of the street newcomers, but also some resources to those long time members who are new to our area. In addition it can probably benefit those who do not pay a lot of attention. Any questions please call

<http://www.scademo.com/>

This is a neat site that has a lot of information. Great concept. Why don't we do this?

<http://www.knoxrailsalvage.com/>

This place specializes in home repair supplies, but they have a bunch of everything. Check it out.

<http://www.laysmarket.com/>

Great source of meat., Bacon in bulk, good prices. The chronicler checks their specials on a regular basis.

<http://www.threeriversmarket.coop/>

Go here for your bulk spices. Great prices and they also have bulk raw honey for all of your mead needs.

Two members of the Barony have testified that their local IGA have a great selection of top quality meats and service. Their website is a bit touchy-feely granola for me, (they have an IGA theme song) but hey, good service and good value overcomes hippy propaganda.

I don't know how useful this is to newcomers, but at least it is really pretty.

<http://www.thorsmountain.org/>

I feel obligated to include these sites although I think they are not very useful to newcomers.
